Please join us for the opening night of the Just Food exhibit, which explores the connections between food, justice, human rights and faith through art from around the world. In total 38 pieces of art were commissioned for the exhibit, which also includes artifacts and hands-on activities.

Is food ever just food? Food is not only something to be routinely prepared and consumed. Food is essential for human life. Without food there is hunger, conflict and death. With food there is vitality, community, and celebration. The food insecurity of many people around the world indicates that our food systems are unjust. Is the abundant food available to some of us just food, when it is not equally accessible to others?
